

Questions for Students on Jean Vanier's Message to Educators

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Unlvta\_rn3g

1. Who in your education is a teacher who reflects or has reflected Jean Vanier's message in this video? What was it about this teacher that leads you to identify them as living out Jean's message?
2. Jean says, "Difficult kids are often kids crying out for help." Can you relate to what he says in your own experience going through school?
3. In your future you may or may not become a teacher. In what other professions or types of work could you live out the call to respect and include and care and help others to belong? (In music? Business? Transportation? Politics?...)
4. Jean Vanier says we are called to help create community and to include and care for others. Where do you see your teachers and other students doing extra and so helping to create community and belonging in your school? How do you yourself participate in this?

Questions prepared by Greg Rogers, M.Ed, and Beth Porter, M.A.